FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Athabasca University Students Union Welcomes New Executive Director

Edmonton, Alberta – May 15, 2017

AUSU is pleased to welcome Jodi Campbell to his position as Executive Director of AUSU.

Jodi is a graduate of the MacEwan University Business Management program, and comes to AUSU with significant knowledge of the Alberta system of post-secondary education, as well as experience as a General Manager of a fellow student government organization.

Jodi may be reached by contacting our office at ausu@ausu.org or toll free at 1.855.497.7003 ext. 203.

To learn more about Jodi, his biography is on the AUSU website here.

Any questions about this press release can be directed to president@ausu.org.

The Athabasca University Students' Union (AUSU) is an independent, student-run society representing the undergraduate students of Athabasca University.

We serve over 35,000 members annually in home-study locations across Canada and internationally. In any given month, our membership is in the order of 26,000 active students.

Our mandate is to provide advocacy, support, and student services to our membership, and to foster the support, promotion, and excellence of distance education at AU and globally.

For more information about AUSU and its programs, please see www.ausu.org, or contact our office at ausu@ausu.org.
